Can my surgery be cancelled?

Your surgery may be cancelled due to emergencies or other reasons. Staff will keep you informed of any reason which may delay or cancel your surgery.

What happens in the Operating Room (OR)?

If you are able, you can walk to the OR patient receiving area. You may wear your glasses, dentures and hearing aids.

A nurse and doctor from the OR will review your surgery and answer your questions.

Once in the OR you will participate in a safety checklist that reviews all information related to your surgery.

If you are having an epidural or a spinal anesthetic, this will be done before starting surgery. You may be given medication through your IV to help you relax during the procedure.

You will be asked to breathe oxygen from a mask that is held over your nose and mouth. The anesthesiologist will give you medications through your IV to make you sleep.

What happens in the Post Anesthetic Care Unit (PACU) after surgery?

When you arrive in the PACU, you will have:

- an oxygen mask put on your face
- an oxygen monitor on your finger to check the oxygen level in your blood
- a heart monitor to check your heart rate
- your blood pressure, pulse and respirations checked every 5 to 15 minutes
- your incision checked frequently

Will I have pain when I wake up?

You may have pain when you wake up. Most pain can be controlled or reduced by medication. Tell your nurse when you are having pain. You will be asked to rate the pain on a scale of 0 to 10.

How else might I feel?

It is normal to feel drowsy, thirsty, and/or nauseated. This is caused by the medications you had during your surgery. The nurse will let you know when you can drink.

Will I be able to go to the washroom?

You may have the feeling that you need to empty your bladder. You may have to use a bedpan or urinal.

After your surgery, you may have a catheter to drain the urine from your bladder. This can give you the feeling that you need to urinate, which is normal.

Can I have visitors?

There are no visitors allowed in the PACU. There is a waiting area near the operating room. To get information there is a phone available to talk with a nurse. The average stay in PACU is 1 to 2 hours.

When you are ready to leave the PACU you either go to Same Day Surgery or to a bed on a surgical unit. Your family can visit you there.
